

The Stories Your Body Tells

Instructions: Go down the figure below and write stories about the different places and parts of your body. Near your head, you can write about your most memorable hairstyle. Do you remember your first haircut? Then along your face, write about who your features resemble, whether your mom, dad or someone else. Where is your largest scar located and what's the story behind how you got it? Be sure to be creative and most importantly be loving always toward your body. Please check out thewritingorbit.com for more astrology + self-help worksheets.

